Origin of the Hackney.

The hackney horse has given quite a number of useful words to the language. He and his name came from Normandy originally-haquenee, really a corruption of the Latin for horseand he was a riding borse. Being commonly hired out, the name came to be associated with hiring and in course of time also with drudgery. Today there are far more backney carriages, within the meaning of the act, without horses than with. A literary back is another form of the same name, and hackneyed is an obvious derivation from a common source. - London Chronicle.

English Injustice. An Australian tourist traveling in the west of Ireland asked an old woman how far it was to the nearest town. She sadly looked at him, then sighed and said:

"It was five nice miles two years ago, but some English brute came over with chains and made it seven, and our hearts are broke walking it ever since. Bad luck to them!"

And she disappeared into the house, leaving him there.-Illustrated Bits.

BURNED AMERICAN FLAG

Consumed in Melting Pot with Em blems of Other Nations.

New York, June 1.-An American flag and the colors of many other nations were burned tonight in a "melting pot," suspended on a tripod in the yard in the rear of the Rev. Bouck White's Church of the Social Revoluion. The "ceremony" was conducted by Albert Henkel, introduced as "an artist." After the colors had been destroyed, Henkel unfurled the banner of "international industrialism." The flag burning was preceeded by services in the church at which one of the speakers was the Rev. Mercer Green Johnston, rector of Trinity Protestant Episcopal church at Newark. N. J., who recently resigned because, he said, some of his vestrymen wanted him to run his church "like a grocery store."

Mr. Johnston strongly disapproved of the flag burning part of the program and tried vainly to induce White to prevent it. He then left the church rather than witness what he characterized as "a most damnable busi-

After a speaker had declared no moment could be "more auspicious for the merging of all the nations into the international commonwealth," Henrich Weber, who spoke in German, renounced the flag of his fatherland and east it into the flames, while those who surrounded him chanted:

"If die we must, we'll die for our God. Rise, revolutionists!"

Weber was followed by persons who claimed to be natives of Great Britain Russia, Japan, Italy, Sweden, Rumania and Greece. Each cast the colors of their country into the "melting pot." Then came Henkel carrying an Ameri

Residents of nearby buildings who crowded the fire escape to witness the proceedings, hissed as Henkel broke the staff to which the Stars and Stripes were attached and plunged the flag into the fire.

White will be tried in a magistrate's court tomorrow on a charge of dese crating the American flag, by drawing a cartoon in colors which showed the banner of the "revolution" breaking over the colors of the United States and other countries. This cartoon adorned the wall of his church.

The prayers offered at the services tonight called for the "deliverance" of White and compared him to the Christian martyrs of old.
